Keiron is a Project Manager working within the Development Team at Sero Homes combining his experience from the social housing and renewable energy industries to aid in the delivery of Sero Homes' vision.

Beginning his career in construction as an electrician within the Social Housing sector aiding in the delivery of homes to the Welsh Housing Quality Standard before moving into more senior positions such Renewable Technologies Project Manager, Capital Works Manager, to most recently the Mechanical & Electrical Manager of one of the UK's largest and fastest growing Housing Associations.

With a passion for affordable and sustainable housing, Keiron is now using his experiences to aid Sero Homes with the delivery of their zero-carbon approach to housing development.
